The first half, "The Seductive Character," describes the nine types of seducer, plus the Anti-Seducer. Once the Siren has made herself stand out from others, she must have two other critical qualities: the ability to get the male to pursue her so feverishly that he loses control; and a touch of the dangerous.

Todd refuses to believe that Toni is pregnant unless she takes another test. Joan and William try in vain to convince her to moderate her behavior and live within a budget. To heighten the erotic charge, create the excitement of fear.

He offered her the wine glass. Toni's family comes to town, and Toni worries that her mother will embarrass her in front of Todd's parents by voicing her objections to their Jewish background. She worries that she has lost William's friendship forever.
